The Gladwin family are in for it again. They occupied the attention of police and justice courts several weeks during the summer, Gladwin living in notorious adultery with his wife. Last evening the new hall in the upper story of the Martin Hughes block, at the corner of Broadway and Park streets, was dedicated by a grand ball under the auspices of the Maennerchor society of this city.

The new building is one of the handsomest in the city, and the hall will be a fine place for balls, parties and home talent theatricals in the future.

A cosy stage, folding drop curtains and scenery, has been constructed. All modern conveniences are also built within the hall, making it one of the most complete in the city.

The seating capacity is about six hundred, and the occasion was a merry one. The Maennerchor has become one of the most popular organizations in the city, and their friends were present on this occasion en masse.

Delightful music was furnished, and the dancing continued until a late hour.

NEW YEARS IN THE BLUFFS.

Two incendiary fires are the initial features of 1890.

TRIMBLE FINDS MORE TROUBLE.

How an Enraged Hush Slinger Held the Fort—A Fireman's Painful Mistake—Reception at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

Two More Incendiary Blazes.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning an incendiary fire at the coal and wood yards of W. W. Williams, on Upper Broadway, called for attention of the fire department.

The fire was the result of a arson fiend there is not the slightest doubt. The yards are not a few feet from No. 4 horse house, but the line and cement shed in which the flames were found was very badly burned.

There was every indication that oil had been used in liberal quantities. That the fire jaddies burned out in marvellously quick time is shown by the fact that when Captain Anderson of the Merchants' police, who discovered the fire from the opposite side of Broadway before the flames had broken out, rushed across the street and entered the horse house, the horses were harnessed and the firemen ready to pull out. They stated that the heat from the burning structure had awakened them. If this is the case, they deserve credit for making the quickest latch on record, as they must have gotten up, dressed, descended to the lower level, opened the stable doors and made the hitch in less than two seconds, as the flames were but just breaking out when the officer rushed across the street.

Quick latches have been made in the department, but this breaks the record by several seconds.

The building and contents were damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, but the flames were subdued before they could cooperate with any of the adjoining property.

The fire was hardly under control when another blaze was discovered on the opposite side of the street at the rear of the building known as the "bucket of blood," where Frank De Groot was murdered in cold blood last year.

The incendiary torch had been applied to the rear wall of the alley, and the fire was scorching under roadway when it was discovered. It was extinguished without difficulty.

There is something apparently mysterious connected with these incendiary fires. They have been going on for several months, and there is no indication that the firebugs are any near apprehension that they were at the scene. The police have not even the slightest clue, and about a dozen of the police were put to work, but this failed to produce the desired result, the fire continuing to break forth even in the districts where the police were supposed to be the most numerous.

As nearly as can be ascertained so attempts are being made to ferret out the guilty parties. It is a matter of some mystery, as property is being destroyed in becoming proportions. Sheds, barns and unoccupied houses are being burned, and the incendiary field for the fire bug's attention, and he is applying his destroying torch in all parts of the city with prodigious impartiality.

Several very odd stories have been set afloat regarding the matter, and it is to be regretted that circumstances indicate that the incendiary truth than poetry in them. Affairs have indeed come to a most mysterious stage when there is even the slightest foundation for some of the charges that have been advanced indirectly.

The most disgraceful rottenness exists in certain official quarters is admitted by members of the city council and some surprising developments are being revealed in the course of that body. It is an open secret that certain parties who are desirous of an appointment to a place in the department have been unusually zealous during the past few months to show how well they are qualified for the position. It is understood that they are anxious to place in the lower level of Lower Broadway, which is just completed. If this is the proper solution of the matter it is fair to suppose that if they are successful in their schemes that they will not only decrease in incendiary fires after the appointments are made. If this is not the case it is certainly very odd that the matter was thoroughly investigated.

Franklin Can't Keep Sober.

Frank Trimble is again behind the bars. He was sent to the county jail a few weeks ago for vagrancy, in default of a $100 bond to keep sober, and was held there to await the action of the district court. When first looked up he begged to be released, promising that he would not drink another drop. It would not work, and he then vowed that when he was again given his liberty he would get full and remain so the rest of his days. He was released Tuesday by order of Judge Carson, with the understanding that as soon as he took a drink he was to be again locked up. Trimble stood it for nearly an hour and a half, but he neglected to empty the flowing bowl, and at an early hour yesterday morning he turned in a call for the police.

He was accordingly prosostrated and booked him for drinking and being drunk.
